

Speaker's Biosketch

ICoLA 2024

Kyung Mook Choi (Korea University, Republic of Korea)

Kyung Mook Choi is a professor in the Division of Endocrinology and Metabolism, Internal Medicine, Korea University. Prof. Choi interests in the study of “organokines” and “sarcopenic obesity” for the treatment of diabetes and cardiometabolic syndrome. He is a former editor in chief (EIC) of “Diabetes & Metabolism Journal (DMJ)” (IF 6.8) and a former editor in chief (EIC) of “Journal of Obesity and Metabolic Syndrome (JOMES)” (IF 4.7). He has authored more than 230 SCI papers in peer reviewed journals (Scopus H-index 63). He won “European Foundation for the Study of Diabetes (EFSD)” fund in European Association for the Study of Diabetes (EASD) as a main foreign researcher. He won an “Young Investigator Ward” in Korea Diabetes Association (KDA), “Principal Research Award” in Korean Endocrine Society (KES), “Munsuk Research Award” in Korean Society for the Study of Obesity (KSSO), “Namgok Research Award” in Korean Endocrine Society (KES), and “Suktab Research Award” in Korea University “.